
NOMINATION

FORUM OF NATIONAL ARCHIVISTS – BUREAU

The Forum of National Archivists consists of all those institutional members of the International Council on Archives (ICA) which are central archive directorates or national archival institutions, as set out in article 4.1.a of the ICA Constitution.

The Forum of National Archivists is organised by a Bureau composed of four members, one from each of the four different geographical groupings specified in article 5.1.i of the ICA Constitution.

Members of the Bureau vote amongst themselves to elect a President and Secretary.

Nominations are invited for the election of members of the Forum of National Archivists to the Forum of National Archivists Bureau.

Members of the Bureau must be able to support their own attendance at the ICA Annual Conference and be in a position to participate fully in the Forum of National Archivists' development of high level strategic responses to the contemporary challenges of managing archives.
